Abstract

The Introduction and the research field :

Praise to be for Allah the lord of the worlds and peace and pray upon the honest prophet Mohammed .

It is considered as a hard and important task to search on the history and life of the trips because of many problems which face the researchers such as the contrariety in information . So studying the life of a tripe as a unit of the Arab society is of an important subject because the other trips are about to be similar in the traditions and culture with the same economical , political natural and religion factors . Before Islam , the Arab society was not able to be united because of the geographical reasons which affected the life of the trips and made them fight each other as well as the controlling of the strong foreign countries over the Arab lands in Arab peninsula or Iraq .

In spite of that the Arab trips succeeded in achieving the educational unit by trade or the permanent searching for water and food or by pilgrimage for Macca and other places for worshiping . We have to refer that it is not possible to draw a complete and comprehensive picture for the whole different activities of this trips because of the lacks in information especially in the economical , sociological and educational circumstances in the Arabic resources .

ABSTRACT

This study was divided into introduction and four chapters and conclusion with the most important resources as well as an abstract in Arabic and English language .

In the first chapter we dealt with the role of Beno Al-Montafiq in establishing the tripe and their lineage , days and houses . As for the second chapter we talk about their role in the period of the prophet (peace and pray upon him) and their narrating to the prophet speeches , as well as their role in the ear of caliphates and Al-Amawy era . As in the third chapter we talked about their role in Al-Abbassy era . In the fourth chapter we talked about the speeches of the prophet which they narrated in the past .
